International Joint Project

granted by the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT) through its

Program for Enforcing the Function of National Universities

“NATURE AND ME”

The Tokyo University of the Arts and the École Nationale Supérieure des Beaux Arts (ENSBA) was selected for the « Program to Enhance the Function of National Universities » of the Japanese Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology (MEXT) to start from this year a new international collaboration program. This led us to launch a new unit, to conduct a Global Art joint curriculum. Students from both schools visit each other in Paris in France and Japan to develop their research and fieldwork through workshops and discussions along the theme of « Nature and Me ».

In the Echigo-Tsumari Art Triennale 2015, we will show the result of the works of the students around the « Social Art Practice ».

We are pleased to show the outcomes of the international joint project between the students from both countries.
